WHITE MOUNTAIN

Strong, Durable and Light.

BELF-ADJUSTING TO ANY POSITION.

The White Mountain Hammock Chair differs from all other stationary or recilining chairs in that it is better, stronger and simpler, is adapted to the house, is wn, porch or camp, and is chuck full of quiet conflort and blessed rest, is far averaged to the Hammock in every way, and on the put up so as to be always in he shade.

By its peculiar consideration it is balanced in all positions, requiring no fast-nings to keep i! In place. The foot rest can be quickly and casily adjusted to suit the shortest or tailest persons. The seat is made of strong canves, fitting perfectly the entire length, without orawing the clothing tightly around the body, thus making it much cooler than a hammock: while the annyance of catching buttons, tearing down the ladders halr, or in any way displaying the limbs is avoided.

The Intelligencer.

WHEELING, W. VA., JULY 28, 1885.

Where is the Governor of Ohio? The people, without any distinction whatever, have been prompt to recognize that in the death of General Grant the Republic loses an illustrious citizen. Gov ernors of States have issued proclamations announcing the National bereavement, and in the name of their respective Commonwealths paid tribute to the public services of the old soldier who lies dead on Mt. McGregor. From the White House came promptly a proclamation worthy of the occasion. From the uttermost parts messages of condolence have been fisshed over vast stretches of land and under the sea.

move him, George Hoadly ought to have produced a proclamation that would have thrilled every patriot bosom in the land. In number for August. There is always the lacked nothing but the heart—and so much that is delightful in this familiar

State. Nobody ventures to suggest why Governor Hoadly has taken no official notice of the sad closing of a brilliant and It is recalled, however, that Hoadly was an active applicant for the chief justice-ship of the United States when Salmon P. Chase died; that he was mortified and angry when President Grant appointed Mr. Waite to the vacancy, and that he has never forgiven that affront—does not foreign the whole of the Afghan hill country called "The Sirdar's Chess-board." In "English and American Railways" there is a compared to the control of the Afghan hill country called and American Railways" there is a compared to the control of the control give it now when greater men have for-

say it loud, for the country wants to hea from him. Its Governor may be a small man, but Ohio is a great State and nothing small is expected of her.

New Publications.

Eliot's Poetry, and Other Studies" is the title of Miss Rose Eliza-beth Cleveland's book. The work will be read—is being read—because it comes from the White House. The write has literally jumped into prominence as a book-maker, and her book will be bought without any reference to its merit. Yet it does not lack merit. It is free from all it does not lack merit. It is free from all conventionalities of thought and style. The thought is strikingly independent, pure and noble. The style is Miss Cleveland's, and it is a style always forceful and sometimes elegant. The cassays are well conceived and well written, but in school rooms and colleges and newspapers and magazines good cassays are constantly being born. Miss Cleveland's productions are creditable but not remarkable. Many better books have not paid the cost of publication. This will be one of the most successful ventures of the time.—Funk & Wagnalis, New York.

A New England Conscience, by Belle A New England Conscience, by Belle C. Greene, is a good little book, with a good motive. It tells a fair story, embellished with prayer meetings, experience meetings and other religiious observances. Finally it appears that a New England conscience does not differ much from other consciences—G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

"The Story of Movy" is a remarkable its heroine the daughter of a brute Super intendent of a convict camp. The motive is to show that the colored race has been is to show that the colored race has been re-enslaved in the South; that justice in its application to "the inferior race" is a heartless sham; that innocent colored men and women and those guilty of trivial offenses are sentenced to long torms in those earth hells where the stontest scarcely live to see the third year. It is a nonearful presentation of such wrones as powerful presentation of such wrongs as Mr. Cable has depicted in cold descriptive articles which have been resented but the allegations of which have never been dis-proved. The purpose of the writer is good, the recital is thrilling and ought to arouse the dead conscience of the Nation.—G. W., Carleton & Co., New York.

"The Kuight of the Black Forest" (illustrated), by Grace Demo Litchfield, is an entertaining account of the summer tour of two American girls with their aunt in Germany. There is a good portraiture of the obliging professional courier, and of course a streak of the romance that touches young hearts.—G. P. Pulnam's Sons, New York. J. B. Lippincott & Co. Philadel-phia. Stanton & Davenport, Wheeling.

"The Protestant Faith; or, Salvation by Bellef," is further described by the auessay on the errors of the Protestant church." It is a production of research, thought and conviction, of good literary style and a free-hand criticism of the doctrine of faith by justification.—G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia. Stanton & Davenport, Wheeling. thor, Dwight Hinckley Olmstead, as "an

"How Should I Pronounce?" by Wm. Henry P. Shyfe, has attracted a great deal of attention. It aims at the useful office of teaching a correct pronunciation of the of teaching a correct pronunciation of the English language, without which there can be no elegance of speech. The rules are not difficult and they are made comparatively easy by the use of familiar and frequently mispronounced words by way of llustration. Everybody ought to study and profit by this little book. Once fairly started it is as easy to pronunce correctly as incorrectly. G. P. Pulnam's Sons, New York; J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, Stanton & Davenport, Wheeling.

"Defective and corrupt Legislation; The Causes and the Remedy," by Simon Sterne, points to the loose and dangerous methods of legislation-rashing through methods of legislation—rathing through bills without any thought or knowledge of their effect—and spigeets as a remedy a responsible supervision by the State, dus notice of the filing of bills and a fair hearing of all interests affected. Mr. Sterne has produced a thoughtful paper of wirster sciever transactions from the Games of the Games

"Afghanistan and the Anglo-Russian Dispute," by Brig. Gen. Theo. F. Rodenbough, is a compilation from many sources. There are various maps and pictures, and the reader will find much to instruct him upon a subject which has by no means lost its interest.—G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York. Stanton & Davenport, Wheeling.

The Utica and Black River Railro nasissued a neat illustrated pamphlet of has issued a neat illustrated pamphlet of summer tours, which road is the only all rail route to the Thousand Islands. This route also comprises the marvelous Rapids, the awe inspiring Saguenay, together with matchless scenery and stately Canadian cities. The tour of the St. Lawrence is a very popular one with Wheeling people, and is one of the most delightful this country affords. The pamphlet containing numerous illustrations and entertaining sketches of interesting points will be malled to any address, upon the receipt of ten cents for postage, on application to of ten cents for postage, on application Theo. Butterfield, G. P. A., Utica, N. Y.

"The Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World," described by the Sculpton Barthold is all the more interesting be-cause it is the history and a description of the colossal work by the man whose genius conceived it. Very appropriately there is a portrait of Bartholdi.

The Sanitary Engineer (New York and ondon) has made its own place and fills The Governor of the great State of Ohio if admirably. Though it contains matter The Governor of the great State of Ohio is dumb. He opens not his mouth. The man who is Chief Magistrate of U. S. Grant's native State—a State proud of her illustrious son—he has nothing to say. With his learning, his readiness with his tongue and pen, and such a theme to tongue and pen, and such a theme to say the George Hosells and State of Chief and

St. Nicholas comes along with a charm lacking this he lacked all.

This flagrant sin of omission is not is most to attract. There are good stories escaping notice and comment in his own and beautiful things in verse.

Good Housekeeping (Clark W. Bryan Co.) came as a revelation. Nothing of the kind had been seen or thought of in journotice of the sad closing of a brilliant and patriotic career. Nobody knows why he has thus braved public opinion and turned has back on the decent proprieties of this growth in grace. Published every other week at $2.50 a year.

Harper's Magazine for August is a good summer feast of all sorts of things. Mr. Howell gives Part II of his delightful give it now when greater men have forgiven greater things.

It may be that the Governor of Ohio has something to say in extenuation of his course. It so he ought to say it now and course the deference is not always against the English way. The Science, (Cambridge, Mass.,) which is doing a good work in special lines, comes out in a "sanitary number," which deals with river pollution, quarantines, soils and health, city wells, water supply, and tells how to deal with yellow fever. A paper on 'The Spip-Railway between the At-lantic and Pacific" is illustrated with a large map. Science is steadily growing in favor.
